This supervisor refresher course presented at and supported by the New York Center for Emotionally Focused Therapy is designed to meet all the requirements and standards put forth by AAMFT and addresses the current thinking about supervision models and cultural competencies. Although this course will be inclusive of most therapeutic and supervisory models, an emphasis will be placed on the Emotionally Focused Couples Therapy (EFT) model of supervision and training. We focus on furthering the supervisor's ability to apply the tenets of the EFT Supervisory process in the most effective manner. We will also address issues such as supervisor cultural sensitivity, the isomorphic process and case management and execution.
